A FAIR CHARTER

AMENDMENT
One of the charter amendments for which the city council is asking the legislature is for the right to tax at the rate of not more than ten cents per lineal foot any lot along which a water main is laid.

The purpose of the amendment is to make the vacant lot pay a part of the cost of the system.

According to the present arrangement the water system has no revenue except from users. The holders of vacant lots pay nothing toward installation of the system but, in increased value, profit wherever a water main is laid past their properties. In the meantime the system, owing to the fact that it is necessary to lay an enormous mileage of pipes in order to serve a community, is losing money. Last year the loss was $9,491.43.

If the amendment goes through, which it undoubtedly will, vacant property along which water mains are laid will be taxed enough to cover the deficit.

The charge is a fair one. It will relieve householders from the burden of paying for miles of pipes which they are not a party to requiring and will place the burden for the same on those who profit by the extension of the system without becoming patrons of it.

MR. CUSHING'S POSITION

The second session of the second legislature has now been going on three weeks. During this time W. H. Cushing, senior member for Calgary and ex-minister of public works, has had nothing to say of certain charges made against him in the public press.

The astonishing effrontery of Mr. Cushing is one of the great surprises of the session. Either the stories printed against him are true, or they are not. If they are true, Mr. Cushing should get out of public life. If they are not true, he has an excellent opportunity to rise to a question of privilege and deny them.

Mr. Cushing has no right to sit in the house without answering them one way or the other.

AN ELECTED COMMISSIONER AND THE RECALL

Among the candidates for council is one man who has come forward and declared for an elected commission and a council, mayor and commission subject to the recall. This brings the question into active municipal politics.

The Capital is firmly convinced that the affairs of the city of Edmonton will not be on a satisfactory basis until both the council and the commission are subject to the recall.

The object in view of the framers of the Edmonton charter was to so arrange things that the electors would be unable to arise at any time and throw out the whole city administration.

With this object in view he provided that only one half the council should be elected each year and that commissioners appointed by a majority vote of the council could be discharged only by a two-thirds vote of the aldermen.

The fundamental idea back of this arrangement is that the public is volatile, changeable, unstable, and must be protected against itself.

All experience goes to show that such fears—the theories of a self-elected superior class—are groundless, and that cities where the purely democratic idea of government is in vogue, such as Des Moines and Galveston, govern themselves much more competently than do cities like New York, Chicago, St. Louis, and Montreal, where the electors have no franchise except to appoint agents in the person of councillors who may handle the public business as they will.

There is a frame of mind which some thinkers have called "the arrogance of elected persons." Edmonton has not suffered seriously from it yet, but other larger cities have, and Edmonton will suffer similarly in due time unless a change in the system is made. Any one familiar with ring rule in any city knows this "arrogance," and any candid person will admit that the recall furnishes an infallible panacea for such municipal ailment.

And the arrogance which is so often shown by elected persons who imagine that they are sufficiently powerful to ignore their constituency is much more likely to make its appearance among appointed persons who believe that the great power placed in their hands cannot easily be taken from them. For these the recall is more necessary than for an elected council or mayor.

It is assumed by many that election by the people would not bring into public service men of the stamp necessary to handle the large utility interests which a city like Edmonton holds.

This has also been disproven by actual practice, but even if there were such a danger a safeguard can easily be supplied by the requirement of qualifications.

Spokane, one of the most progressive cities on the continent, is going over to the elected commissioner system. In Spokane, the candidate who seeks the office of city engineer is required to show that he has had five years of professional experience in the state and that he is qualified according to every law to follow his profession. The man who aspires to become city solicitor is required to show that he has practised law in Spokane for five years, and that he is holder of all the necessary certificates. Similar qualifications are required of other candidates.

With such safeguards there would be little danger of an unknown jumping into the control of the city's affairs, and the public can be depended on to make a pretty safe choice from among the men it knows.

Believing that an elected commission and the recall are necessary to the successful administration of the city of Edmonton, the Capital endorses Mr. Macdonald, the man who has placed that plank in his platform, and hopes to see him elected.

The question which he brings into the municipal arena is at least the largest that has been brought in in recent years.

A new turn to the agitation for home rule is given by the Ulster people who have purchased arms and announce their intention to shed blood if home rule is enforced. Seeing that passenger rates are lower now than they have been for years, these Ulster folks are taking an unwarranted stand. Damage Will Be Ten Thousand Dollars in Early Sunday Fire.

Alarmed by cries of "fire," 100 guests at the Yale Hotel hustled out of their warm beds at four o'clock yesterday morning. Attired in the habiliments usually worn at that hour of the morning they swarmed into the corridors and even out into the biting air on the sidewalk, only to find that there was no danger, the fire being confined to the Hub Cigar building adjacent.

The flames were first discovered by the night clerk at the Yale, who while performing his official duties saw smoke coming through the walls of the building and after calling the fire department, hastened to awaken the guests of the hotel. The firemen upon their arrival found that the fire had broken out among some packing cases in the basement of the building and although they did their best it was not until practically the entire contents of the store were consumed that the blaze was extinguished.

In the basement in addition to a large supply of tobacco, was a large amount of glassware and bar supplies which were handled by the firm on commission. The fixtures in the front part of the building were ruined while those in the pool room in the rear were so badly damaged that it is probable they will have to be replaced.

The proprietor of the cigar store, E. A. Borque, estimates his loss at $5,000. The damage to the building is valued at $5,000. The management of the Yale Hotel will suffer a loss of at least $1,000 due to the smoke penetrating the rooms and corridors of the building.

J. JOHNSON DIVORCED
Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 5.—Mrs John Johnson has obtained a divorce with the right to have the name of Leitha Jeddley, by a former marriage, restored to her.

She stated in her complaint that the name of Johnson was odious to her. Since the Jeffries-Johnson affair at Reno, John Johnson has been known among his friends as "Jack Johnson" it is said. This did not appeal to Mrs. Johnson, and she tired of the name. The specific grounds for the divorce were non-support. The defendant did not appear in court to contest the claim.

DISTRICT COURT
A sitting of the district court was held at Vegreville last week, Judge Taylor presiding.
In A. A. Rode vs. N. N. Bentley, an action for wages, judgment was given for the plaintiff.
Louis Milner vs. Jacob Basika, an action for commission on the sale of a farm, judgment was reserved.
Gordon vs. McIntyre, reserved from the last court. The action was for balance due for work done and goods supplied and various trades of real estate between the parties, with a counter claim for damages arising out of an alleged defective roof. Judgment was reserved.

IMPORTANT POSTAL INFORMATION

Christmas parcels sent by mail should be well packed in stout cardboard boxes, wrapped again in strong paper, and then securely with good cord, the address preferably written upon the wrapper itself, and not upon a tag, liable to be torn off. Avoid packages less than 2 inches by 4 inches. Better to employ a fair sized box and use packing to fill up. Everything of value should be registered, so that trace and proof of delivery may be furnished if necessary; the fee is only five cents.

Post everything early and avoid the crush and jam of the last day's mail.

STRATHCONA RATEPAYERS AT THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

(By Our Own Reporter)

Strathcona, Dec. 4.—One hundred ratepayers sat patiently in the council chambers Friday night and received with applause the reports of the chairmen of the various committees from the city council, and to a lengthy financial statement read by the city treasurer. For those who expected a lively meeting there was disappointment in plenty. No more respectful and quiet gathering ever gave a council hearing in the annals of Strathcona ratepayer meetings and as some expressed it upon leaving, "There were no fireworks at all."

The reports, as laid before the meeting show in what manner the city has progressed during the year now approaching a close, and the general conditions in a financial way may be taken as particularly satisfactory.

At last year's meeting a number of the ratepayers were in a particularly critical turn of mind and the reading of the financial statement was by general consent abandoned early in the evening in order that the cross-fire of criticism might be continued without interruption. Last night when the mayor called for inquiries no one taxpayer rose to register a grievance.

Mayor Duggan, opening the meeting reviewed briefly the progress of a year in the city, with the advantages that are in the past already of realization. Referring to the sale of debentures he pointed out that $186,000 worth have been disposed of at 95 per cent. bonds. He felt that the council had expended this money to good advantage. The future of the city warrants and calls for the expenditure of large sums of money in improving conditions. The C. P. R. have repeatedly given assurance of making Strathcona their real terminal location for all the northern systems and the C. N. R., by their recent move to purchase a terminal site show that there is a great deal to be expected from that quarter. The right of way along the C. N. R. entrance will likely put $100,000 into local circulation. The university is another success builder. This institution now opens on a satisfactory scale means much to the future Strathcona. The affiliated colleges, Methodist, Presbyterian and Catholic, will ensure the city the production of educational centre for the province.

His Worship dwelt briefly on the boulevard, street paving and parks work finished this year. He had worked especially for the beautification of the city. He regretted that a new hospital was not erected but this will doubtless be done before many months. He explained very concisely the by-laws to be voted on at the coming election.

At the close of this summary His Worship thanked those who petitioned him to stand for another term as mayor but he had decided to retire from the field for a time at least.

Financial Statement Lengthy

Financial-treasurer C. K. Cox followed with a lengthy statement of the city's finances to date. With annual month to run of the year the tax arrears at present were $40,554.55, but balance of the debit and credit shows the financial standing to be far better than for years past. The credit amount for the year including balances, and other sources of revenue totals $465,638.16.

A very comprehensive report was presented by City Engineer McLean. He enumerated in figures all the public works extensions this year which reach a total far in excess of former records in city work. In closing he recommended that public works be started not later than May 1st of next year so that most of the contracts might be completed by October. This brought applause from the assembly. Nearly six miles of water and sewer lines have been added to the system this year, bringing the total length of ditches up to thirty miles in extent. The report further showed all matters connected with sidewalks, paving, street grading and bridge building.

Ald. Bush, speaker for the public works committee advanced an active saving policy believing that this kind of improvement though costly, is essential. All the walks in the heart of the city should be made of concrete. While he recognized that the public works department was one most generally criticized, he had endeavored to please every person possible and he had no excuses to offer for the committee's work.

Electric Plant Surplus

That the present engines at the power plant are already loaded to capacity and much valuable equipment will have to be installed by another winter was set before the ratepayers by Ald. Richards of the fire and light committee. All things are working smoothly, the new fire hall building only giving trouble, though this difficulty is now settled. In a sub-report he showed how 43 fire calls had been answered during the year. The insurance paid on damaged property was $14,000. The fire department has a small deficit, now would by the end of the year contribute a substantial surplus to the city's revenue. Five miles of new line have been added this year, the number of consumers now being over 600. The winter street lighting promised, some time ago, will be in effect in a few days. Ald. Richards set forth six views on the fire hall that should govern the man elected to the council. He did not at all times seem to agree either with other of his fellow aldermen or some of the ratepayers, but he had 277 votes what appeared to him to be the right course.

How He Created a Job

Ald. Tipton, of the market and parks committee, spoke of his absence at the annual meeting last year, therefore his report would practically cover two years. When he was elected to the council three years ago, he said, there appeared to be no possibility for him in the market and parks department; he was handed over. There was then no development so that he felt like a stageman out of a job. However, he began to create a job for himself and commenced agitating for an appropriation for his work. He wrung something like $400 from the council the first two years (laughter) and tried to carry on the work with this. This year the first concrete results are shown for the $2000 at last voted for parks purposes. With the improvements now greatly admired in Riverside Park, the only one of the three to be actively developed.

He could never see why the pound department should be shouldered on the market and parks committee, but since it had he had endeavored to run this satisfactorily.

A man had been appointed expressly to look after loose stock in the city and the fees collected had paid his salary to within $125.

Ald. Tipton gave a summary of the improvements carried forward on the market square, which include the building of a market building and scale office, the graveling of the square and the installation of new and larger weigh scales.

Seven Schools Open

The annual report of the school board was read by Secretary Downes. He showed a total revenue of $55,658, with over $15,000 of this paid in teachers' salaries.

Mr. Ritchie, chairman of the board, said by the first of the new year there would probably be seven public schools in operation in the city. This will include the new one in Waterdale.

It is proposed to discontinue the use of rooms above Douglas Bros' store for the chief possible moment. Some of the schools are overcrowded in spite of the efforts of the board so it may not be possible to do this with the first of the year.

BOULLION'S VIEW

Interviewed by the Capital this morning Commissioner Boullion stated that his understanding of the criticism of the assessor's department by the auditor related entirely to the manner in which the accounting work was carried on by that department.

"The statement that because the books are not closed until December 31st, they cannot be properly audited is untrue," said the commissioner. "The auditor checks over the books and you can rest assured that they are correct up to the end of the fiscal year. The fault, if any, lies in the manner in which the work of the department is carried on."

Her Face and Body Were Litterly Covered With

"BOILS."

Burdock Blood Bitters
Cured Them.

Mrs. John H. King, Johnston, N.B., writes:—"Last summer I was very much troubled with boils, and my face and body were literally covered with them. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I got three bottles, and before I had taken all the first one my boils began to go away. I had just taken one more of the last one when they all disappeared. My husband has also used Burdock Blood Bitters with much benefit."

Boils in themselves are not a danger, one trouble, but still, at the same time, are very painful. They are caused entirely by bad blood, and to get rid of them it is necessary to put the blood in good condition, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal that old and tried remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters. Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LEGISLATORS AT BUFFALO PARK

Trip to Wainwright Was Enjoyable One—Howard Douglas Showed His Pets.

Released from their strenuous labors of the past two weeks, freed at last from the burden of the Waterways debate, the Alberta legislators, or a large number of them, took a pleasure jaunt to Wainwright, over the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, on Saturday, and they were accompanied by a hundred business men from the capital, and other friends from Edmonton and elsewhere.

A whole special train of seven cars conveyed the party the 127 miles to the eastern border of the province, where by special arrangement of Howard Douglas, they were permitted a glimpse at close range of the Buffalo park, in the confines of the huge buffalo park at Wainwright, where 800 head of the animals, for which the Canadian government paid $200 per head, are roaming.

The trip was a success and mightily pleased were the legislators and their party, at the treatment they received while in the hands of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The railway company have chosen a typical general passenger agent in the person of W. P. Hinton, whose genial personality was responsible for much of the pleasure that the excursionists got out of the trip. He saw that none of the party lacked in the way of comfort while in his hands on board the luxuriously appointed special train that carried the party swiftly and comfortably to Wainwright and back. There were 120 in all in the party. Though the members and business men and others were disappointed over the fact that the trip west had to be cancelled owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the big trestle east of Banville, they were consoled in the promise of Mr. Hinton that he would take the party west in two weeks' time. The trip to Wainwright was a pleasant substitute for the excursion first planned.

The train left Edmonton at 10 a. m., picking up a dinner from the delayed eastern express at Cooking Lake. Following the arrival at

The buffalo were in exceptionally splendid condition, and called forth many comments from members of the party who had not before seen them. The party were also shown the six antelope which had recently been brought from Brooks, in the south of the province.

The party reached Edmonton on the return trip at midnight. The party included, besides Mr. Hinton, Lieut-Governor Buley, Hon. Mr. McLean, a large number of the members of the legislature, President McGeorge of the board of trade, Ald. Mould, Assessor McMillan, and a large number of business and wholesale men including the managers of several local banks, officials of the government, including Publicity Commissioner Hochkiss, representatives of the newspapers, and others. Howard Douglas, commissioner of parks, who accompanied the party, conducted the arrangements at Wainwright, by which the members were enabled to see the buffalo.
